

MARKETING INTERN @Seekho

About the Role

Are you someone who's obsessed with solving problems, moves fast, and loves to figure things out?

Join us as a Marketing Intern and become a key contributor to our high-impact growth initiatives.

This internship is perfect for someone looking to gain deep exposure and practical experience in marketing while working closely with a driven growth team on live projects. You'll be involved in strategy, execution, experimentation, and learning loops that power real results.

What You'll Do

- Work closely with the Growth and Marketing team to execute campaigns and initiatives that drive user acquisition and engagement
- Dive deep into user behavior, market research, and competitor intelligence
- Brainstorm, pitch, and execute new marketing experiments
- Assist with performance marketing, content, social media, and email marketing efforts
- Help track performance, analyze metrics, and iterate based on data
- Support rapid, high-stakes experiments – be it launching a new campaign, trying a creative format, or testing a new channel

Requirements

- A sharp, driven, and curious individual who brings energy and a bias for action
- Strong problem-solving mindset with the ability to break down challenges using first principles
- Internet-native and resourceful – you can figure anything out with some digging
- High adaptability and the desire to learn fast and execute even faster
- Good communication skills and a collaborative mindset
- Ability to juggle multiple tasks and meet tight deadlines

Language Fluency (optional): fluent in Malayalam or Kannada– must be able to read, write, and speak either language proficiently.
